Members of The School Board

Enfield, N. H.

Gentlemen:—

Herewith is presented you the annual report of the standing of the schools in this district.

The grading of the elementary schools in the village has been completed so that each grade occupies a separate room under its own teacher. The conditions of teaching and learning are as nearly ideal here now as it is possible to make them. The schools are not overcrowded, from twenty to thirty pupils being in each room, the equipment is good, all the teachers are either normal school trained or experienced in many cases both, and the sanitary conditions are excellent. In fact this district has in all respects a city school system on a small scale.

But one change among the teachers has to be recorded this year, that at Potato Hill School where Miss Julia Pushee has been replaced by Miss Mary T. Gould of the last years class of Plymouth Normal School.

East Hill School is again closed and an additional teacher has been added to the village school staff in the person of Miss Elizabeth Houghton from Plymouth Normal school.

The district is fortunate in retaining for another year the services of Miss Mary E. Ellinwood in the music department. The excellent foundation work done by Miss Ellinwood last year is showing it's strength in the real music results of the present. Pupils in our grades are learning to sing and to understand and appreciate music. Miss Ellinwood, of her own accord, requested to be allowed to undertake instruction, out of school hours in instrumental music.

The school plant is used for this purpose but no charge is made of the pupils. There are large classes this year in Violin, Mandolin, and wind instruments. The people of Enfield should appreciate this work and it cannot help but benefit the whole town in varying degrees.

A recent departure within the last year or two bids fair to become a permanent habit with us, the employment of a regular school nurse. The idea of employing a nurse to make a cursory examination of the children once a year is not new, but the plan of employing a nurse to be on the spot for long periods of time, to do follow-up work in the homes, to undertake dental hygiene, and health instruction is the novel part of it for Enfield. Three years ago Miss Georgina Munson of Concord was employed to work in the towns of Canaan, Enfield and Orange for six weeks continuously each district paying a proportionate share of the expense. A fine result was obtained but the following year a relapse to the old spasmodic examination occurred. Last year Miss Elizabeth MacCauley of Manchester was employed for half the school year, from September to February, the state defraying all the expense under the form of additional state aid to the districts. The present year

Miss Della V. Carr of Franklin will be at work in the 3 districts from Feb. 1 the rest of the year. It is to be hoped that in the not far distant future a school nurse may be in residence in these districts for the whole year rather than the half and may become as well accepted a member of the educational staff as any of the teachers.

Tardiness have again declined on our records. This is progress in the right direction and tends to improve the reputation of our schools in the state. Prompt schools are better schools.

The high school is doing better work than before. Standard high school work is difficult, requires considerable study out of school hours., and cannot be successfully accomplished by pupils who are not blessed with considerable ability and an earnest purpose. It requires some sacrifice of "good times." But our pupils are not yet pressed to the danger point of nervous prostration, however they may feel in the matter. They are, though, beginning to appreciate what real high school work is under the direction of our very competent staff of teachers. High school standard quality of achievement must not be confused with the grammar school type but requires far more ability and study to gain.

Let us all plan for a still further advance in school work and conditions next year and rejoice in the things already done.

Respectfully submitted

H. H. PRATT
